

The fire alarm

Sometimes when I am at school, the fire alarm might sound

The fire alarm is loud but it needs to be so that everyone can hear it.

The fire alarm might make me jump and this could mean I will feel in the yellow or red zone. I will need to remember that it is just an alarm to keep me safe. Taking a deep breath might help me get back to the green zone.

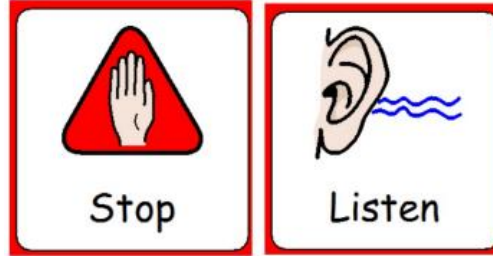

It is important to remember that the fire alarm is here to help me and keep me safe at school.

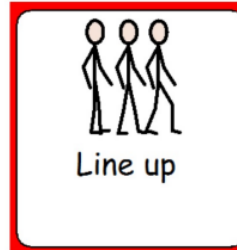

When the fire alarm sounds, I must:

- Stop what I am doing and listen to my teacher

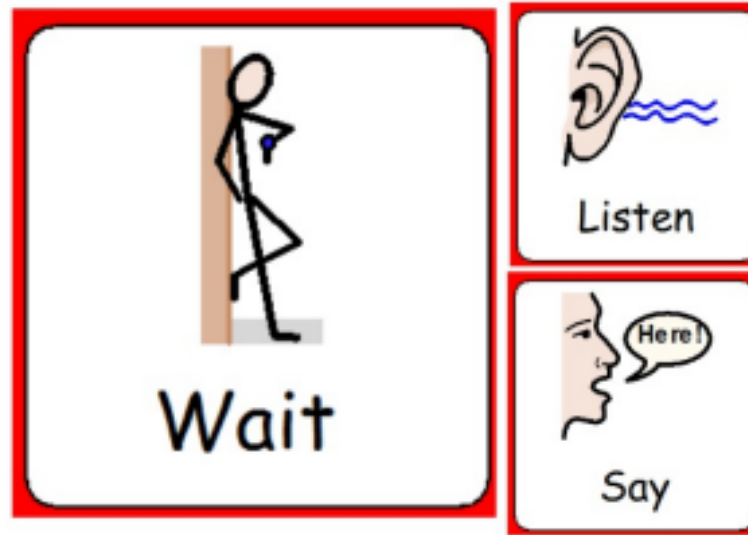

- Line up sensibly, without using my voice

- Walk carefully to the playground with my teacher

One I am on the playground with my teacher, I must wait quietly to hear my name in the register. When I hear my name I must say 'here' so that my teacher knows that I am safe.

When it is safe to enter back into school, an adult will let me know. I will then walk sensibly, back to the classroom with my teacher.

Now I know what to do when the fire alarm sounds
