

For each area of the specification, you should have your own notes (from class), as well as a booklet.

Homework this year is in the form of exam-style questions. You will revise an area of the specification, through Guided Learning tasks (which will require you to transform information from your classnotes and booklets, into revision material) and you will apply this knowledge to an exam question. Homework is set on a Thursday and handed in the following Wednesday. Homework is set on Classcharts.

When you receive feedback in class, you will have the opportunity to add detail, and look at example answers, to help you to improve your exam technique.

You have Guided Learning booklets that focus on specific areas of the specification. The tasks in the booklets guide you through techniques for transforming the information that is in your booklets and classnotes, into revision materials. This is to help you to start the process of revision from the beginning of the year, and to help you to find revision methods and recall techniques that work for you.

What you have revised in Guided Learning will then be applied in your exam questions for homework.
