Pupils whose attendance is at least 96% should be congratulated and encouraged to maintain high levels of attendance.

Attendance is a concern. The closer to 91% attendance is, this is becoming a serious concern. The pupil is at risk of becoming PA (persistently absent – when a pupil's overall absence is 10% or more of their possible sessions).

Attendance is a serious concern. This is a high risk group and the pupil is now identified as persistently absent (PA) - when a pupil's overall absence is 10% or more of their possible sessions. If a pupil has continued poor attendance, you are at risk of a penalty notice or a referral being made to Early Help (Trafford's safeguarding team).
