Belvoirdale HUB

The Belvoirdale HUB (formally called Cedar Classroom) has completely changed this year. I wrote to parents last academic year to explain that the morning lessons would be for those children who required support with literacy and maths while in the afternoon, different children from across KS2 (years 3 to 6) will visit the HUB at various times to access different nurture, wellbeing, educational and social communication activities, that will support their broader life skills. These activities will include practical life skills such as cooking, personal communication skills such as social interaction and friendship and Physical and mental health activities such as PE and personal development skills. Sitting alongside those essential Belvoirdale Characteristics, these life skills will help to equip our children for the wider challenges of the community.

AUTISTIC MASKING AT SCHOOL

We are very aware of the frustration that masking at home triggers with parents. Please see the reverse for support ideas and groups. Mr Dax

Routines-Important!

Routines are so important for children, because it gives a child a predictable structure that makes them feel safe, reduces anxiety, and builds healthy daily habits. Routines have become a vital foundation to our work at Belvoirdale. Adults will meet, greet and organise activities that regulate children as soon as they enter the classroom and you too can help by doing the same at home, with consistent routines from the moment your child wakes up. This can also include the same breakfast and journey to school, because for some children, something different can completely dysregulate their behaviour for the whole day. Simply Google routines Place2B and see the great resources they are available.

Support & Advice

Support and advice is never far away and as parents, carers and citizens we all need advice at some point in our lives! The Coalville CAN Community building opposite the clock tower has a vast range of services for adults, families and children and so to does the wonderful Marlene Reid Centre at the corner of Belvoir Road. Failing that, you can always come into school and ask one of the team who will be happy to help and advise, and always in the strictest confidence.

Natasha's Law is named after 15-year-old Natasha Ednan-Laperouse, who tragically died from a severe allergic reaction after eating a baguette that contained hidden sesame seeds. Every school is now required by law to have an allergy policy as well as emergency epi-pens that are used to support Anaphylactic shock.

Belvoirdale has children who require this support.

What is Natasha's Law?

Natasha's Law means any food that is pre-packed for direct sale (PPDS) must show a full ingredients list, with the Top 14 allergens clearly highlighted on the food label.

Who does it help?

Natasha's Law protects people with food allergies from unintentionally consuming allergens that could lead to serious illness or trigger anaphylaxis, which is a life-threatening allergic reaction.

Farewell & Than You!

Sadly we say a goodbye today to the wonderful Mrs Rachel Pollard who has worked and supported children across many classes since her arrival in 2023. Rachel is a superb LSA and has given so much to the children of Belvoirdale with her vast knowledge and skills. Mr Dax would also like to thank Rachel for her theatrical skills including costume and prop making for our summer shows. Go Well Rachel x
