

Science intent:

'Science is the key to our future, and if you don't believe in science, then you're holding everybody back.'

Bill Nye

At Rydon our area of learning is concerned with increasing pupils' knowledge and understanding of our world, and with developing skills associated with science as a process of enquiry. It will develop the natural curiosity of the child, encourage respect for living organisms and the physical environment and provide opportunities for critical evaluation of evidence.