

We want every Little Lanterns child to be...

A playful performer, who expresses themselves creatively, can draw, paint, and use their imagination through games and role play

A book lover who recites short stories, sings familiar songs and can write their name

An individual who enjoys their independence, expresses their emotions and develops good relationships with peers and adults

A confident talker and a good listener who can communicate in sentences and enjoys stories and learning

A risk-taker who likes trying new things and challenges themselves through physical activities like climbing and building dens

A confident mathematician who can use numbers to five and sing number rhymes

A friend, who is thoughtful, kind to others, shows care for our environment and is a respectful member of our community
